

What is PPx Therapy?

Photopneumatic™ Therapy is an USA FDA (Food & Drugs Administration) cleared therapy and has proven to be a painless cosmetic treatment for Skin Rejuvenation, Permanent Hair Reduction and Pore Cleansing Acne Treatment.

How is PPx Therapy different from other laser and light based treatments?

There are several key differences between PPx and other laser and light-based treatments.

1. PPx Therapy offers optimum results on most skin conditions with the most advanced treatment technology.
2. Treatment is gentle and painless
3. It is a fast treatment procedure. Skin Rejuvenation may take up to 20mins. Upper lip Hair Removal may take about 1 min, while larger areas for hair removal can take up to 20mins. It takes about 20mins for Acne treatment. Treatment duration varies according to different skin conditions.
4. PPx does not require pre-treatment with gel, anesthetics or numbing creams.
5. PPx Therapy uses interchangeable treatment tips, thus aids in better hygiene with no risk of infection.

Have patients been happy with their results?

PPx Therapy is 4 to 5 times safer than other systems. Patients who have undergone PPx were extremely satisfied with their result. Based on a recent clinical study on PPx, 100% of the patients surveyed commented that they would choose PPx over previously experienced Laser and other Light-Based treatments for hair removal, skin rejuvenation and acne treatments.

How does PPx treatment feel?

PPx therapy is very comfortable. It is a gentle therapy that gives a warm sensation as the skin is drawn into the treatment tip. A gently broadband light energy is emitted to the treated area, immediately after this pneumatic vacuum, your skin will then be gently release back to the normal position. Patients describe the treatment as being similar to a warm massage.

How long will the Hair Removal results last?

Typically, the patient requires to return to the service provider for a touch-up treatment minimum once yearly after completion of the first entire course of the treatment sessions. However, the result varies from individuals as well as on different body parts.

Is the PPx Acne Treatment cleared by the FDA?

Yes. The PPx system is FDA cleared for 5 different stages of acne, namely, pustular, comedonal, acne vulgaris, etc.

Will I still need to use topicals or other medication for acne?

Please consult your Treatment Specialist. Depending on your skin severity, you may be advised to apply topical concurrently during PPx Therapy.

Will I have sensitivity to light following my treatment?

No. Unlike some other Light-Based treatments, the PPx System does not cause sensitivity to light.

Do I need to take time off from work to recuperate?

PPx is a fast, non-invasive procedure. You can resume normal activities immediately post treatment.

Will I need anesthesia?

No, PPx Therapy is no pain treatment. No anesthesia or numbing creams are necessary.

How many treatments will I need?

The number of treatments is dependent on the condition of the patient to be treated. Generally, the patient requires minimum 5 sessions in order to achieve excellent results. For specific number of treatment required, please consult your Treatment Specialist.
